

CHEPSTOW ARCHAEOLOGICAL SOCIETY

Chepstow Archaeological Society.

The Chepstow Archaeological Society was formed in January 1996 to explore the Archaeology of Chepstow and the surrounding area. It provides a focus for local people interested in its history and pre-history.

We have a full programme of talks, field visits, training and hands-on archaeology.

We maintain a close relationship with other archaeological societies and research organizations.

We publish a regular newsletter for members and are noted for our relaxed, friendly and informal approach.

WHO ARE WE?

Our membership includes seasoned, professional excavators, experimental archaeologists, scientists and, most valued, the keen amateurs.

We have close links with local educational establishments offering Archaeological options, and a number of our members have obtained formal qualifications.

We welcome and encourage Novices or Experts who can participate as fully as they wish either in practical aspects, research, campaigning or organisation.

We remain involved in the Newport Save Our Ship (SOS) Campaign and have developed our links with Council for British Archaeology and Glamorgan Gwent Archaeological Trust.

We cover all periods, from prehistoric through Roman & Medieval to more recent, and members are interested in excavation, experimental archaeology and other research.

By completing the Gift Aid section on the membership form, you can increase your subscription to Chepstow Archaeological Society significantly without any extra cost to yourself. Paying by Standing Order also helps the Society enormously.
